

Registration

Prefix _____

First _____

Middle _____

Last _____

Suffix _____

Title _____

Affiliation _____

Address _____

City _____

State _____

Zip _____

Work Phone _____

Home Phone _____

Fax _____

Email _____

The cost for attending the Summit is $100.00. Students may waive the fee by providing a one-page essay on why you would like to attend and how you will use the information presented at the Summit. Students will be required to provide proof of enrollment at check-in.

- Scholarship essay enclosed
- Check (Please make checks payable to Iowa State University)
- Money Order
- Purchase Order _____

Number

Mail to:

NSPCD
Iowa State University
Attn: Joyce White
168 Armory Building
Ames, IA 50011-3034

*National Summit on Preventing Civil Disturbances
Iowa State University
168 Armory Building
Ames, IA 50011-3034*

National Summit on Preventing
Civil Disturbances

 NSPCD

Nov. 10-11, 2005
Iowa State University

Overview

The National Summit on Preventing Civil Disturbances is designed to augment valuable contributions cited during two previous national meetings. Though local communities continue to struggle with celebratory riots and mixed-issue disturbances, much has been learned about successfully preventing such incidents. Built upon a solid foundation of evidence-based observations, the Summit will include action planning and solution building for campus and community.

Professional and knowledgeable participants will explore best practices in a variety of disciplines; contemporary perspectives regarding event management, alcohol abuse, local zoning and student involvement will be provided.

Sessions will include the following elements crucial to disturbance prevention: student leadership; campus-community cooperation; housing-zoning management; town-gown contributions; and business involvement. In addition, the Summit will explore innovative and practical techniques for special event management based upon case-related policing strategies and contemporary best practices.

Preventing civil disturbances requires a team effort and team attendance is encouraged. The Summit is specifically designed to benefit a variety of leadership teams to include: campus administration, police and student organizations; landlord and neighborhood representatives; city management, public safety, zoning and liquor officials; and social scientists.

Agenda

Thursday, November 10, 2005

- 8 a.m. Registration
- 9 a.m. Welcome
Student Body President Angela Groh
President Gregory L. Geoffroy
Mayor Ted Tedesco
- 9:30 a.m. A Framework for Action
Linda Langford, D.Sc., Center for College Health and Safety
- 10:00 a.m. Riots - Individual and Collective Behaviors in Crowds
- John McCarthy, Professor of Sociology, Penn State University
- Clark McPhail, Professor Emeritus, Sociology, University of Illinois-Urbana-Champaign
- 12:00 p.m. Luncheon Address
Dr. Craig Anderson, Distinguished Professor of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Iowa State University
- 1:15 p.m. Parties, Police, Pandemonium: Postscripts and Prevention
Dr. Cynthia Buettner, Director, Ohio State University College of Human Ecology
- 2:30 p.m. Panel Presentation - "The Day After"
- 3:45 p.m. Panel Presentation - Change in a College Community
- 4:30 p.m. Reflections - Day One
- 5:00 p.m. Student Leader Session
- 6:30 p.m. Evening Social - Reiman Gardens

Friday, November 11, 2005

- 8:30 a.m. Welcome - Looking to the Future
Angela Groh, ISU Student Body President
- 9:00 a.m. Breakout Session - Key Issues
- Alcohol regulation
- Enhancing the student sense of community
- Collaborating across campus boundaries
- Effective event planning and management
- 10:45 a.m. Panel Presentations on Possible Best Practices
- 11:15 a.m. Whose Job is It? Managing Community Events
- 12:00 p.m. End of Session - Luncheon Buffet

Who Should Attend?

- University Presidents
- Student Affairs Vice Presidents
- Deans of Students
- Student Body Presidents
- Student Leaders
- Student Event Planners
- Student Union Staff
- Health Center Leaders
- Residence Hall and Housing Staff
- City Managers
- Mayors and Elected Officials
- Planning and Housing Officials
- Neighborhood Leaders
- Landlords
- Campus and Community Law Enforcement
- Social Science Faculty
- Neighborhood Association Leaders
- Substance Abuse Prevention Specialists
- Registered Nurses
- Campus Judicial Officials
- Student Life Professionals
- Counseling Center Leaders
- Campus Attorneys and Legal Advisors
- Public Relations Staff
- Bar Owners and Other Merchants

A Chance to Plan

This conference will provide a unique opportunity for attendees to initiate planning in their respective communities. Participants will engage in constructive dialogue, team collaboration and action planning. To encourage student participation, scholarships are available to offset the registration fee.